That, come on, drink a bowl of soup. Then he ate good — I never ate that kind of meat.

The tim's in for it. If sister cried, the little woman came back, they hunted there, sometimes went to the river, they sometimes went right by L M's house but never said it.

The man killed meat every day, he knew where to go. L M was helping him. Lots of dry meat.

The m. came one (1) to his home, bringing a lot of dried meat. And went. "Oh, he is not dead, for you see the meat shot he pocket?"

"I left bring some more?"

He said, "They had mine eaten up nearly visiting."

"Little man and his name was T's d. S. n."

L M's sister's name was T S. T. The Taming man had no name.

Call the dried meat to men. All the dried meat to men who he stayed with.
The man told his mind sometime I'll come. He could go back—only a little way to go, he lived by the river, he had a good warm nice house.

That woman was wearing a blouse (Indian with) 25,000...2 (indian with) a head out of jockeys. She was, as was CM, a human born right there, no animals or anything. It was funny how he got up sound for.

The deerd on the deep wood went back on the nice hole now he devised his 61 in long. I killed the deer.

I ask details about LTH on ocean. He played with shiny stick. Shiny—she was stick skinny. He played on the ocean, no one played against him. Thomp asked his father in this story, on whom he played against.

Coy Jim lived on the side of the river.
He had 10 sons. Wolf people lived on the inside of the river—opp. each other.
If they wanted to visit
they could go straight across to visit.
While wolf had 10
sons too.

Well they heard the news that there was a close, so told his brethren.

All night, we're ready.
Now the next day about 10 o'clock they started in. Now the 5th then the youngest boy.

Then the youngest boy — gosh he pretty near cut that string that med moved around. Then coy. son said: Andy is cut that thing off. Andy was watching. He shot at midway the one of the wolf people just — the coy’s sons — the one of coy’s sons. They were neighbors. They they were neighbors. They killed 9 of the boy sons. (killed) 9 of the boy sons. The wolf was want to be there. There was a little house standing there.
CSB ran up a tree and was in its top. Measuring worm said: Oh my back is sick. Wolves said to the worm: If you can shoot that coy son well give you lots of money. Backache boy man tried the wolves' horn too soft, not good, got up hung low from the my.

house. Then m-worm slept. He hit us with his mid-fund the was dead there. Thus the worse got the mid.

Then someone hollered from Coy's home village (high vyen's tone). The somebody (man who was calling) somebody (n who was calling) Coy's boys got killed all. No no no, better for him.
said: Wolf boys they get killed all here.

No. Let's piss over the hound.

So the old man wolf put one in his mouth.

Then coy put his into his own mouth. Now you know the truth, they old wolf went back across the river.

She told Wolf-chief: "Why did you come here to make a home that's far away? I had trouble why I came here. We had trouble. We killed Coy's sons all. All of them, that's why we came. I had a wife. (but he did not say we have the men). They then gave him a place to sleep in the cookhouse — the men in the cookhouse — the men all went to the sick. (the wolf daughter suspects all the wolf daughter suspects all the time that it was Coy — when time that it was Coy coming she first beheld him coming she is Coy all night."

That night the wolf's kept up the fire all night, and behold the men. They men the next day were all talking: We are going hunting, chief is going with us. He went with them. We told them Coy made it that no elk came down, it was nearly noon. What's the use waiting? The hunters found him at the foot of the trail — he cut his head off; he cut his arms off — the remaining hunters commented the remaining the TC chief has killed himself.
It was at the foot of the hill where the trees leaves the flat & after he came down from the hill his bow & arrow & 10
hundred of arrows & it was true where he shot too.

And the women wasn't getting lots of acorns that day, getting ready for a big supper on the return of the hunters.

The hunters were much driving the elk's down from the the elk hail expecting the 1st to have the honor & chief to have the honor of shooting the elk's, but the elks merely went on down while the hunters soon espied
a head, limbs, belly, bleody mess, & were horrified.
And she said to him, "What am I to do with that madman?"

Well, you just drop one drop, bright here in the middle of his heart, and the parts came together.

The fellow got up quick. The wolf said, "Oh, the wolf was glad now - the chief had come alive. Everybody was glad.

No trouble no more now, everybody got kill and have to give lots of money for, drop - a alive."
He got up quick, then wrote, 17

Coy. cried & cried. He went down anywhere without building fire when it was yet dark. He found 3 of Coy's bones. Next morning he started out again & found 2. Latter on 2 more, making 4 in bunches fighting they kill'd All 9 he found. He took these home thinking he took these home, All 9. One putting together, All 9. One was missing. It was 9b. that he did not find, for they had kill'd him in the top 7 (30) a tree. He found his bones & took them too to the sub. Then he put him together. Then he put a drop in. Then he told every man. Then he talked to them. When they were done & sweating, yes with accounts. He shut the outhouse door. He went back into the house, waiting till they shut call him. Now they were after sweating. Coy 1 hour hollered to him. Coy opened the outhouse door & Coy collected them up, calling each by name, whereupon they came up. The last of all sb. + all went swimming. They had healthy looking bodies — not dead-like bodies.

Well, he stayed all one winter & summer & in the late summer the people had largely left the river & the year was nearly up. The youth was near 20 and his wife & well-folks next to touch you, my own. I think I have been good to me & not have been good to you. The youth & wife came home. The youth told the man to camp by the river. It was time for him to go home now. Maybe his wife is going to come to get him. Now a wolf lolled or lay down yonder near a deer buck in the river, jump't there upon in the river.

Ten deerbucks came running off, ran & was killed for the people. Now the wolves came like thunder, maybe 100 & that hunter got up & joined them, saying, "Time is up, man, go back."

This is a true story, there is no story like this.

When ever a wolf comes around the man, the winds tell the wolf: feed me, the wind is mine. The wolves ad next morning kill a deer for the winds.
Now the winds were going to stop, to dig camas. Pretty soon they came to an open sidehill, and wolves cut the throat of an elk. The lost man, an elk. The lost man, an elk. He had hair growing on his shoulders—quite a hairy body. The old folks knew that the killer was his son. The old folks: "Son, this is the last time you and I will see each other, and we never will see each other again. That man had a big elk, it was. That man had the 2 sons, & maybe other children.
Big skunk (malodorous) and jaybird lived in a house together. He was a doctor. She was jaybird. They stuck Bigskunk for several nights. Bigskunk's body was greatly smoked. Then he went back to his smoke hole. He sent a messenger. They all shut up all the openings of the house. The doctors planned to kill him. They went in and shot a jaybird. He asked, "Why am I so sick?" He said "My pain." And then he said, "I am not feeling well.

Jaybird went by them. Jaybird would say, "I see this man." Then Bigskunk said, "I have been working in the field."

When I was staying with him, we had a gym. He would go for a run in the morning around 7:00. I'd always ask him: "What are you going to ask for?" He'd say, "A big bite."
When I was a little kid, I would sit in my room and think. I would imagine things and make up stories in my head. This is something that I still do today. I have a lot of friends and we often talk about our imaginations and the stories we create.

The first time I wrote down one of my stories was when I was in high school. I wrote a short novel about a girl who could shape-shift into different animals. It was very different from the stories I had read before, and I was proud of it.

After I graduated from high school, I decided to pursue a career in writing. I took some classes at a local community college and started submitting my work to magazines and journals. It wasn't easy, but I kept at it, and eventually, I was published. It was a great feeling to see my work in print.

Looking back, I realize how much my imagination has shaped who I am today. It has given me a way to express myself and to escape from the world around me. It has also helped me to develop my creativity and my critical thinking skills.

I am grateful for the time I spent sitting in my room, imagining and creating. It has been a valuable part of my journey as a writer.

There was no land here, what we live on, all was water. 3 men came down in the middle of the sea, a house came slowly down from the sky, they saw a little down from the sky, they saw a little way further down water there, they were & they stopped there. They said: You'll see more if I go on, the earth was the sun, & the earth had the sun. They lowered the earth tail way more the earth tail way, then the earth tail way that way. They lowered the earth so that only the top stuck lift out of the sea.
